I remain docile

Panic panic

Despite what you say I am still quite afraid

Panic may arise

There will be no memorial to praise your name

Panic may arise

Shut your mouth as every last limb is amputated

Who knew in ten years you'd just be gone?

And I think it's safe to say the days of wine and roses are over

In the event that someone passes away completely unaware

That their life is about to pass before their eyes

Panic may arise
