It's late, sorry did I wake you
My love, didn't mean to make you cry
I just had to tell you
So hard being here without you
I swear I never want to fight again
I just had to tell you
I wish there was a way to turn the world around

If my heart could fly
A thousand miles a minute
There would never be
A day without you in it
So take, take what you can of me
I would do anything
To have you here tonight

Soo deep, that's the way you touch me
I can't sleep, hoping you still love me
'Cause I just want to hold you
Out there, barely and existence
So hard, I can't take the distance
And I just had to tell you
I wish there was a way to turn the world around

If my heart could fly
A thousand miles a minute
There would never be
A day without you in it
So take, take what you can of me
I would do anything
To have you here tonight

(Anything)
Anything at all
(If there was a way to turn the world around...)
Oooh

If my heart could fly
A thousand miles a minute
There would never be

So take, take what you can of me
I would do anything
To have you here tonight
