If you try to stop me in every way
You'll just give me more power
I don't need to do anything more than be myself

But the flames of my hell are too high to be chocked

We are burning what we thought ash
We are living what we thought dead

Leave everything, every thought you have
Leave yourself too
I'm gonna take you to a perfect place full of death and flames
I'll give you all you want
Just sell your soul to me

But the flames of my hell are too high to be chocked

We are burning what we thought ash
We are living what we thought dead
