I know we have to go our separate ways,
And you know how much we both hate change.
The Cali coast will treat you well,
But New York will never be the same,
Never be the same without you here.

Lets forget everything tonight
And we will watch this sunset just one last time
And we'll lay our heads down under the starlit sky
And we'll be pretending we could stay here forever,
Forever for one more night.

And I'll blame time for sending us in different directions
Wish we could turn the hands back on this clock,
To the days when we had no cares
Just living for the moment, for the moment.

Lets forget everything tonight
And we will watch this sunset just one last time
And we'll lay our heads down under the starlit sky
We'll be pretending we could stay here forever,
Forever for one more night.

Capture this moment now, lost in this ecstasy.

Wish this would never end,
Please don't let go of me.

Lets forget everything tonight

Lets forget everything tonight
And we will watch this sunset just one last time
And we'll lay our heads down under the starlit sky
We'll be pretending we could stay here forever,
Forever for one more night.

And we will watch this sunset just one last time
And we'll lay our heads down under the starlit sky
We'll be pretending we could stay here forever,
Forever for one more night
