the waters up to our necks now I find it hard to breathe you are holding tighter now and I'm feeling warmer now that your close to me nobody expected this nightmare now we all need a place to hide this is much more then we bargained for but I know that we'll make it through tonight this is the day when heroes fall empires burn and leaders follow and if this city falls we can hide here

we can die here
and if this planet crumbles
we can stay here
until the cavalry comes now as you tell me your broken dreams and as I watch you cry I won't mention that the walls are getting weaker I just want to see you smile

empires burn and leaders follow
this is the day when heroes fall...

we can hide here we can die here
and if this planet crumbles

we can put out these fires and save the survivors and watch the dead be raised and we can move mountains yeah you can move mountains this is the day our pride will fall our bodies burn but that means nothing at all I think this cave will turn to light I think your kiss will keep me alive

you can hide here we can die here
and if this planet crumbles

oh x2
