After every step I've taken
There's one more in making
I've got some explaining to do

I know it's unexpected
But on this road I'm hated
I can't rest until I'm through
With you

I can't leave this undone
It's waiting like a loaded gun
I give you time to run
And then take aim
And hope you're ready when it comes

After all the times that I have lied
For fear of what I find if I just try

Though I've never asked
History is the past
This time I'll climb inside and let it ride

This simple thing I'm asking
I'll remove my mask and
Reveal what I've concealed from you
For all these years

And if what comes after
Ends up in disaster
It's just what I have to do
My dear

With the last thing I do
I'll feel empty till I've had a piece of you
Now I look to you
Just to find out if what I see is true

After all the times that I have lied
For fear of what I find if I just try

Though I've never asked

History is the past
This time I'll climb inside and let it ride

After all the times that I have lied
For fear of what I find if I just try

Though I've never asked
History is the past
This time I'll climb inside and let it ride

And let it ride
Let it ride
