you keep your head inside the bottle and i'll just keep cutting up lines.

you spent your life in constant sorrow and i'll just pretend that i'm fine.

cos only once the drugs are done that i feel almost human numb.

and only once my heads on clear, that i feel like dying
right here.

you keep your lines with those who listen and i'll just keep borrowing time.

the hesitation when your missing, all of the moments in life go by and..

only once the drugs are done that i feel almost human numb.

you keep your problems so well hidden, that even your tears feel like smiles.

that i would die here is a given and no one will ever know why.

because only once the drugs were done that i feel almost human numb.

and only once my head was clear, that i feel safe dying
right here.
