The wilted flowers that I gave
Not as nice as your bouquet
All the lyrics that I wrote
Not as smart as the words you spoke

Starlight above my hometown
Ain't as bright as the star I've found
Every drawing that I drew
Was never ever as cute as you

I, I, I'm serious as a heart attack
I'm looking in my almanac
I've gotta find out all the things
Find out where she got her wings

Shimmy, shimmy quarter turn
I feel like I will never learn
How can I check lost and found
When I'm too busy getting down?

Take it back to square one

Gotta get it back to
A back up plan to find you
Start acceleration
Take it back to square one

Gotta get it back to
A back up plan to find you
Start acceleration
Take it back to square one

I swear that I'm not kidding
We're just trying to fit in
All the other answers
Questions never confirmed

States that keep us far apart
Track the beating of my heart
Mark the places in my book
With photographs we never took

I swear that I'm not kidding
Night time is so pretty
With all the stars above your eyes
And sneaking out and making ties

States that keep us far apart
Track the beating with a chart
Mark the rhythms that I shook
Every time I caught you look

What?

Gotta get it back to
A back up plan to find you
Start acceleration
Take it back to square one

Gotta get it back to

Gotta get it back to

Gotta get it back to
Take it back to square one
