I wandered in, hearing your conversation
You sounded bored
What would say then, I shouldn't have came in Words sat on the pavement, oh, what are you waiting for?

I ought to be so prepared
It got to me, oh, I was so scared
What was I thinking? It started to sink in It wasn't what we did, I started to see it more 'til I

Walked you to your car
That night down the street of valentine
Your heart was right, we were cold and waiting in
The front seat of your RAV
I knew someday I'd have to ask if you would

I never knew how
To say how it went down
(And who got left out)
But somehow it turned out
(The way it is now)
And you somehow knew it would

That night down the street of valentine
Your heart was right, we were cold and waiting in
The front seat of your RAV
I knew someday I'd have to ask if you would

That night down the street of valentine
Your heart was right, we were cold and waiting in
The front seat of your RAV
I knew someday I'd have to ask if you would

If you would, if you would
If you would, if you would
If you would, if you would
If you would
