Whooh!

I'd like to say you're gonna make it, children

I'd like to say that everything will be alright

From the time you're startin' out in the morning

'Till the time you fall asleep in the sweet moonlight

I'd like to say the world is fair

And you can face it from an easy chair

I'd like to say it, but it's just not true

You do your best, but it's not always up to you

So hand it over

To hands that are stronger

His hand is on you

If you'll hand it over

(Hand it over!)

Doesn't mean you stop your brain from thinkin'

Doesn't mean that if you're smilin', no one's home

Or in your heart, you'll never feel like cryin'

Doesn't mean you'll never dance alone

But you will always have a song to sing

Not a tear will ever fall in vain

Undying love will be sustaining you

(Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah!)

A helpin' hand in everything you do, oh

So hand it over

(So hand it over)

To hands that are stronger

His hand is on you

If you'll hand it over

(Just hand it over, you'll be alright)

Trust with all your heart and mind

In the name above all names

And if you look you'll find divine design

In the strongest of the struggles and the strains

(His hand is on you)

It doesn't mean you stop your brain from thinkin'

Doesn't mean that if you're smilin', no one's home

Or in your heart, you'll never feel like cryin'

Doesn't mean you'll never dance alone

But you will always have a song to sing

Not a tear will ever fall in vain

Undying love will be sustaining you

(Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah!)

A helpin' hand in everything you do
So hand it over-a
