

Henceforth "Rise Again"

Visit "Rise Again" on MotoLyrics.com

Just standing by southern shores
Gaze at a wide, wide horizon
Shared by both storms and blue skies
Enjoying long awaited peace of mind
That took so long to come
I feel the cool sea breeze
But then it makes me think
Of whom I shouldn't think
Certain times are to be left behind
But this is easier said than done
'Cause when heartache takes me over
It's no use denying pain...
So I just head for the water
I'll dive deep once more
I will let things flow out of my mind
I'll smile again...
When I look inside myself I see
I'm still the child I used to be
I'm only grown up on the outside
And that leaves a giant void inside
Now it's time, I have to find the one
That will take me out of the abyss
But living life the way I do
There's no chance that things will change
When emotional disasters come
I know they always last for so long,
'Til that star shines on once more
And it's time for me to Rise Again
So I just head for the water
I'll dive deep once more
I will let things flow out of my mind
I'll smile again
And again I will wonder
Will that star shine someday?
Someday I'll remember that it made me
That it made me Rise Again

Visit Henceforth page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.