I forgot to do a thing
I no longer can remember
Fragments of a birthday
I think it was October

I'm without all of my memories
But I swear I've seen you before
I think you held my hand
I think I kissed your lips sore

The one I found was never lost
You got the room without a cost
The one you stole was already yours
You got inside using blunt force

Things slipped out of your mind,
It's what you unconsciously miss
Will we ever meet in Montauk
A flashback from that kiss

The one I found...
