They say that I'll forget you soon that time can always heal the wounds I like to think they're right but the way I feel tonight
I'll never quite get over you

And it's at moments such as this I think of how we used to kiss
And even in the end if my broken heart should mend
I'll never quite get over you

No other girl I meet can make my life complete it's just that you once used to do for love may come and go
but in my heart I know
I'll never quite get over you

You were so much a part of me that from now on I can't be free and as the days go by no matter how I try
I'll never quite get over you

No other girl I meet
can make my life complete
the way that you once used to do
for love may come and go
but in my heart I know
I'll never quite get over you
I'll never quite get over you
