Just another afternoon on the sidewalks of London.
All the grey and rainy days run together.
Hidden in the streets of stone, suddenly I'm not alone...
I Feel You...
I Feel You...

Every time I think I've lost you, it seems that you find me.
Blowing through me like the winds of December.
Though you've gone away so far, still I turn and there you are....
I Feel You...

I Feel You...

I feel you beside me, my head on your shoulder,
Your fragrance, your laughter, your touch.
I'm lost in remembering the reasons I miss you so much....

How could I ever think about a lifetime that happens
without you,
Even if my only hope is a memory.
Please don't let us be apart, wrap yourself around my heart....
Let me Feel you.....
