All the details fly away like confetti

I don't remember the words we exchanged

Just your laughter, your hazel eyes ready

To stare down my heart. Like a tiger in it's cage

It roared out to you

I would give you the satisfaction you might be waiting for

I would give you the satisfaction

I should not lead with my heart and I'm also

Inspired more often from further below

Take heed of my heart when it kicks down it's stall so

Anxious to carry you where you might like to go

It hurries to you

And I would give you the satisfaction you might be waiting for

I would give you the satisfaction

You don't want to be standing here

By the three-ring a year from today

Wondering was it me that you were meant to love enough?

Don't crack your whip, just give your heart away to me

I would give you the satisfaction you might be waiting
for

I would give you the satisfaction. What are you waiting for?

I would give you the satisfaction.
