I am nothing without you
I am nothing without...
I am nothing without you
I am nothing without..

So where am I supposed to rest my head tonight
When we are miles apart and you never call
I wish we could believe as we're stuck here in between
What could have been and what will never be

Is there something in me that I can call hope?
I can call hope
Is there something out there that I can hold on to?
I can hold on to

It's strange how things turn out
You build it up and then let it fall to the ground
And I'm sad that I missed out
On all the pretty things that just passed me by
Moments we forgot or left behind

Is there something in me that I can call hope?
I can call hope
Is there something out there that I can hold on to?
I can hold on to

I am nothing without you
I am nothing without...
I am nothing without you
I am nothing without...

Is there something in me that I can call hope?
I can call hope
Is there something out there that I can hold on to?
I can hold on to
