I've been living in a picture frame i've been dreaming, screaming out your name i've been scraping, trying to make up the rent busy searching for some money that i already spent but i just can't relax you see cuz you're not coming back to me guess you're only a memory to me now but there's so little left of me to go around i've been thinking about letting you go cuz i've been feeling like you don't wanna know like every second now i'm under attack like i'm breathing for a feeling that's just not coming back

without you i've got nothing to do around here but it's clear that you're only a memory now but there's nothing to do 'round here since you disappeared and i just can't relax cuz you're not coming back
