I don't know why you act like that?
Though you promised that you'll love me till I die.
I think it's time to realize,
That you were nothing but a nightmare of my life.

But now I'm stronger that I was,
And I don't even care just because (you know that)
Those times will never come back again,
That story's going to the end,
For now our love's already dead (because)
Those times will never come back again,

You think it's great but it's the same,
Because you are just such a selfish hypocrite,
Deep in my mind, it's different life,
Without pain and lies that you did to me,

But now I'm stronger that I was,
And I don't even care just because (you know)
Those times will never come back again,
That story's going to the end,
For now our love's already dead (because)
Those times will ever come back again.

It's over now,
There's nothing left to say, 'bout this relation,
You're fallin' down,
Like the world you built, by your frustration,

That story's going to the end,
For now our love's already dead,
Those times will ever come back...
