"A Million Stars"

And it only takes a moment
To step outside and let the rain
Kiss your pain away
And surrender it to the sun
'Cause the world is still spinning around
So seize the day
'Cause you have come so far
Watched a million frowns turn into smiles
Lost all track of time
Felt the energy of a million stars

You will feel love again
You will feel love again
After the rain

You will feel love again
You will feel love again
You will feel love again after the rain

As the coronas start to reverse
To take what's left when it subsides
Information and perception
Get swept away into past lives

And to have come so far
But they fell to us slowly as asked
As words and thoughts combine
The will of love came in you high

You will feel love again
You will feel love again
You will feel love again after the rain

And to have come so far
But they fell to us slowly as asked
As words and thoughts combine
The will of love came in you high

You will feel love again
You will feel love again
You will feel love again
You will feel love again after the rain
