

Hey Mercedes "Stay Six" cars and planes are crashing and someone is cashing in tonight one more look like that could set this mission in motion cause i'm tired of living alone and i'm hoping that it shows all over it's all over and so it goes.

all the usual hearts to you in everything that you do you make me know i've got a lot to live for and somehow i've made it through
i wish i had more to leave you.

and if it feels too early to rise lay back down and close your eyes the war will wait for you.

it's such a beautiful day to be sad it's better to stay in bed with the cold old covers crawling up and over and into that part of my head into the kitchen for the first and last dive of the day what a way it's any way it's amy wait.

for all the usual hearts to you
in everything that you do i know you've got a lot to live for and all your dreams will come true and all your nightmares too
in everything that you do
i wish i had more to leave you.

and if you're ready for some restless sleep we can plan to meet maybe some mundane monday.

stay six kid

and if seven comes on too strong and when eight just drags along you can always cry to nine.
