when did it get so hard to pick up the phone?
we were never like that, never baby when did it get so hard for you to come around?
we were never like that, never like that now there's a distance between us and it's no use denying
I see it on your eyes, why do you try to hide it?
we were never like that never thought we could lose it all, it was never like that never thought we could fall, it was never like that let's stop living worlds apart and ease my daily broken heart can you think back, can you think back ?
we were never like that, never like that when did it get so hard for you to hold me tight?
we were never like that when did it get so hard to make me feel alright?
we were never like that now I can't take this confusion, I wanna see it clearly I'm feeling so alone, I just want someone to love me
we were never like that... we were something you and me each other's love was all we'd ever need how could something once so right, break down overnight?
