Im having a conversation with some friends I know Somebody I agree with no matter where I go Somebody I never have to wait for or try to read their minds Somebody I never have to say, are you having a good time?
Heres to the perfect evening with me, myself and i

Well go pick out a movie and well all choose the same one
Well share the same opinions after the features done Then well discuss our future plans and well all just ride the fence
And well all agree that were the only ones left here with any common sense Heres to stayin inside with me, myself and i

I get so tired of all this me or you or me or you I got better ways to spend my time with me, myself and i

So I asked myself, what do you think? and he said, don't ask me
Hell just take both sides of any point eventually Then well have to sit here and try to compromise Till were all too God damned tired for anyone to decide Heres to getting no where with me, myself and i

I hot better ways to spend my time with me, myself and

Hey big mama, aint you got no soul left in those tired bones?
Hey big daddy, who you talkin to on the bedroom telephone?
Hey little mama, I could use some help tryin to tear off this disguise
And I aint that hard to find with me, myself and i
