My how you have changed
You silly little man
Now everybody loves you
For reasons they dont understand
And it was all in the name of getting you
The things you knew that you had coming
You silly little man

You say youre not to blame
You silly little man
Its all part of a game
That cant be changed
You take it while you can
Its all in the name of getting you
The things that you know you have coming
You silly little man

Youre with the beautiful people now

Youve made yourself a name
You silly little man
Your critical acclaim
And newfound fame
Have made you understand
Its all in the name of getting to a place
Where you feel like youre something
You silly little man

Youre with the beautiful people now

Now I think I understand
What the old man meant
Sitting at the kitchen table
With his head between his hands
Chew what you cant swallow
Then spit it on the ground
Smiles stop the screaming till your time comes around

My how you have changed
You silly little man
Now everybody loves you
For reasons you dont understand
And it was all in the name of getting you
The things you knew
That you had coming
You fucking stupid silly little man

You're with the beautiful people now
