This puzzled look you stare to me says, you put me back together
Her heads down she waits impatiently
Scattered in my heart, torn up and ripped apart
(Its ripped apart)
And now i know i should have known from the times you looked at me
Brace yourself...strength finds a place in me

Just wait and, you'll see you're everything I want
Don't take this from me
Just wait and, you'll see you're everything I want
Don't take this from me now...

With the wind strong in my face
I'm still staggering through
I'm closer to the ground then I will ever get to you Dirt deep beneath my finger nails I'm gripping to the floor
Searching through the world always looking for something more

Just wait and, you'll see you're everything I want
Don't take this from me

Just wait and, you'll see you're everything I want
Don't take this from me now...

and these cold winter nights without you next to me
It feels like Twenty Below
Frost bite on my heart
This pain and suffering are feelings that
You dont know
(You dont know, you dont know, you don't know)
Are feelings that you dont know
(You dont know)

Does it feel like,
Does it feel like twenty below?

Just wait and, you'll see you're everything I want
