What is it we're waiting for? Oh, why are we still here?
Can't you feel the tension in your veins building up like it's been bottled up for years?
In this whirl-wind spinning, spinning round and around.
I'd have to tear my insides out and hang them in the air or hang you upside down Cause I'm not quite getting through to you
No, not yet

Oh, and I'll never let them take anything away from me
Only I can take it all from me Only I can take it all away from me

What did you take me for?
Like you even care Memorize this place in time from this point on it's all up in the air
The second hand keeps ticking, ticking
round and around
Voice in the back of my head is ready to come out Scream
Must be heard please

Oh, and I'll never let them take anything away from me

Only damage while you take seconds that you can't replace these days are weighing taking you down, taking you with me

It's like you know It's like you have everything
Into the fire
Incinerate all our dreams
It falls away
It breaks away
It takes control
It takes control of you

I am not alone, I am not alone Falling down

Falling down in this Oh, I'll never let them take anything
Oh, I'll never let them take anything away from me Only damage while you take seconds that you can't replace
these days are weighing taking you down, taking you
with me
