"I'm drunk" she said;

"You know that I have agendas when I'm drunk" she said

"One day I will demand that you tell me how we met, and how we came to this"

"Are you still there to tell me things can change before this line goes dead and I admit that I never saved the world for you?"

"If we always bled; when I close my eyes why do I burn for you and see your name in red? One day I'll cite all the books I've read that will be the day you can't get out of bed"

"Are you still there to tell me things can change before this line goes dead and I admit that I never saved the world for you?"

Hang up the phone
Crown yourself king
Grab some fresh wheels
Snort dust off the seats
Tell your father you care
Burn down the school
Lock yourself out and then kick in the door

A distraction far too old to leave you worried
There's a movement in the lounge
