(Al Willis, Gwen Gordy Fuqua)

listen (tick), tick (tick, tick tock) tick tock (goes the clock) you better listen (tick) we're running out of time, can't you see (tick tock) listen to the clock for me real soon and beware
you better beware, beware
don't leave me hangin' on a string waitin' for the phone to ring my love's not the kind to keep wasting ooh, I have no time, don't keep me waiting until you realize that she doesn't care the love you feel for her she doesn't share beware, you better beware ooh, let me know you care (beware)
waitin' for the phone to ring
you better beware, beware
you better beware
I'm not always be near when you want me ooh and I can't be here just 'cause you need me to wipe away the tears that you shed in vain I won't be the one to ease the pain
beware, you better beware
don't leave me hangin' on a string waitin' for the phone to ring, no, no, no (you can run) you can run but to find there's no place you can't hide you can put it off, soon you must decide (tick) time is wasting (tick tock goes the clock) ooh ooh ooh (tick) time is wasting (tick tock) time is wasting you got to (tick) make up your mind (tick) don't be blind (tick tock) open your eyes
you better beware

waitin' for the phone to ring
'cause I won't always be there time is wasting (you better beware) ooh ooh ooh ooh ooh ooh ooh (beware) yeah
don't leave me hangin' on a string waitin' for the phone to ring, boy (you better beware) beware let me know you care (beware) (don't leave me hangin' on a string) ooh 'cause I won't always be there (you better beware)
