You ever been so bored that you started counting all your teeth as you squirm around and fidget in your cluttered, lousy seat you ever been so tired that your spirit starts to sigh and your working everyday just to make ends meet what keeps me hangin' on?
you ever wake up in a hotel room but can't remember the city of state you look around, you roam around but your mind just can't relate you ever been so lost that a map won't do you no good as you drive around in circles in a place or town or some kind of neighborhood you ever been so desperate but for what you just don't know you see a thousand faces and you want to remember them all
