Darling were you listening when I called you late last night?
Or did the sleep get in your eyes, did it blind me from your sight?
Or was she lying with you, was it hard for you to speak?
And did you tell her she was sleeping in the bed you made for me?

And did you tell her she was sleeping in the bed you made for me?
Did she like my satin sheets and did you sing her to sleep?
And my pillow that she slept on did it bring her sweet dreams?
Did you tell her she was sleeping in the bed you made for me?

The pillow that you made for me it was soft with feather down
And the headboard, it came from an old house t
That was about to be torn down
And the songs you always sang to me oh wow to fall asleep
Did they sound the same to her in the bed you made for me?

And did you tell her she was sleeping in the bed you made for me?
Did she like my satin sheets and did you sing her to sleep?
And my pillow that she slept on did it bring her sweet dreams?
Did you tell her she was sleeping in the bed you made for me?

Now you can take my old pillow and throw it out the door
You can buy another bed you can find another headboard
'Cause I ain't gonna lie beneath those satin sheets you tore
The bed you made for me it isn't mine anymore

And did you tell her she was sleeping in the bed you made for me?
Did she like my satin sheets and did you sing her to sleep?
And my pillow that she slept on did it bring her sweet dreams?
Did you tell her she was sleeping in the bed you made for me?
And did you tell her she was sleeping in the bed you
made for me?
