our last kiss
tasted like tobacco
a bitter and sad smell

tomorrow, at this time
where will you be?
who will you be thinking about?

you are always gonna be my love even if I fall in love with someone once again I'll remember to love
you taught me how
you are always gonna be the one
it's still a sad song
until I can sing a new song

the paused time is about to start moving there's many things that I don't want to forget about

I will probably be crying I will probably be thinking about you you will always be inside my heart you will always have your own place I hope that I have a place in your heart too now and forever you are still the one

even if I fall in love with someone once again
