"Into The Night"

Trapped in autumn, buried beneath the leaves
To the echo of the summer softly weeping
Sinking further in this sanguinary sea
Painting pain with pastels through her cemetery eyes

Into the night we ride, scars wide open
Into the night (into the night), you and I torn and broken
Bleed into the night

Blinded by the sun's brightest rays
Radiating from the sharpened razorblade (razor blades)
Side by side; darkness and light
Play their game so unafraid, their heartbeats synchronize

Into the night we ride, scars wide open
Into the night (into the night), you and I torn and broken
Bleed into the night and I'll meet you there

Waiting for the world to end
Oh let it end again

Into the night we ride, scars wide open
Into the night (into the night), you and I torn and broken
Bleed into the night (into the night, into the night), arms wide open

Will you leave me there?
