She cuts herself to forget him,
And every time the wounds get deeper.
Tonight's the night she's gonna shed her skin,
Because she's thinkin' that he doesn't need her.
She's wishing all this would end
And she's gonna try to take her own life again.

(Chorus)

Wait
I know your heart's been shattered.
But there's someone worth the wait.
There's so much more that matters
And I know you will be alright,
Just try to love the little things in life
Like running in the rain.

He drinks alone to forget her,
And everytime the room starts spinning,
he starts to think about where they were
And when she told him that she doesn't need him
He's wishing all this would end
And he's gonna try to take his own life again.

(Chorus)

Wait
I know your heart's been shattered.
But there's someone worth the wait.
There's so much more that matters
And I know you will be alright,
Just try, to love the little things in life
Like running in the rain.

And she's wishing all this would end
and he's gonna try to take his own life again

(Chorus)

Wait!
I know your heart's been shattered.
But there's someone worth the wait.
There's so much more that matters
And I know you will be alright,
Just try to love the little things in life
Like running in the rain.

Running in the rain
I know you will be alright,
If you try to love the little things in life
Like running in the rain
