

Hine Rupert

"Another Stranger"

Visit "Another Stranger" on MotoLyrics.com

Remember darkness

It's full of strangers meeting strangers talking code

Remember voices

Sometimes these voices print out danger

And I am just another stranger

Find another stranger

Who's lost another stranger

Trying not to love you

Trying not to love you...

Remember nonsense

You were its witness while computers searched for fame

Remember judgement

Sometimes the finger points to blame us

Would you believe another stranger

Find another stranger

And name another stranger

Trying not to love you

Going over you with a fine tooth comb

Concentrating on your faults

There's not a single flaw

Just ease my conscience
Remembering how we met
Tease myself with memories
Oh how could I forget
Remember silence
It stores a message of the future you will know
Remember pictures
Sometimes an image comes to trick us
It could be just another stranger
Here's another stranger
Inside another stranger
Remember journeys
They're full of promise taking chances breaking code
Remember places
Sometimes these faces spy like neighbours
And am I just another stranger
Meet another stranger
Who needs another stranger
Who's lost another stranger
Inside another stranger
Nothing's stranger than
Trying not to love you
Trying not to love you
Facing all

