

Hine Rupert

"Blue Flame Melt The Ice"

Visit "Blue Flame Melt The Ice" on MotoLyrics.com

Films you watch just roll on
Frame by frame they're stolen
Images that miss you
You've grown far too distant
I could watch the sunrise
You just sign your name on it
Captured by the game of art
You're so anxious to express them
But you'd write the finest lines
If you felt your own expression
Melt the ice and let it rise
Melt the ice and let it rise
Strike a match the spark will bring you fire
So uncertain inside you are a child
Crying out false witness
In this world though you're on trial
Lost in your smokescreen
Anticipating prizes
They caught you burning books
And you shouldn't play with fire
Melt the ice and let it rise

Melt the ice and let it rise
Strike a match the spark will bring you fire
I could watch the sunrise
You just sign your name on it
And once the water's warm enough you'll swim
While I will learn to dive
Oh blue flame
Melt the ice and let it rise
Strike a match the spark will bring you fire
Melt the ice and let it rise
And I could watch the sunrise
But you'd just sign your name on it...

Guitar: PHIL PALMER

Visit Hine Rupert page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.