I recognised that smile, our winter was oh so cold

You wore your mysterious glow just like a child

No careless words were said, we spoke with eyes instead

We looked into each other like long lost friends

Then you flew away, like a migrant bird

You had a summer haunt

You said the ice would kill

But you would not be caught

We have eyes like twins

Where your last thought ends, my next begins

Always just one heart-beat away

From everything I mean to say

Catch me, I'm falling like you

Wish for me, I'll come running to save you

Touch me, I'm calling for you

Remember me, I will never betray you

We have eyes like twins

I slept a thousand hours

My heart felt cold as a coward's

You sent your southern breeze just like a forest fire

I heard those voices too. I dreamed each dream with you

We breathed as one together and we shed our tears

But then I woke with you, and my dream came true

I'll never hold you here

I know that every winter you must disappear...

We have eyes like twins

Where your last thought ends, my next begins

Always just one heart-beat away

From everything I mean to say

Catch me, I'm falling like you

Wish for me, I'll come running to save you

Touch me, I'm calling for you

Remember me, I will never betray you

We have eyes like twins

And I see red when you're in danger

And I see blue when you are crying

At the pictures you believe

You are no stranger

We have eyes like twins...
