I'm talking back if you could try to hear me
Cause there's no one left around here
Thirty takes on the same old story
Building up the perfect nightmare
So you know that I feel insecure about my life
So how could I get by without you making me right?

{Chorus}

Let go, she's gone forever, a total nightmare
You know you're better off this way

It's always been the same old same old
I'll have your back forever
Let's take the night off and roll
We'll toast one to her together
This is just part of life
We get in over our heads
But when it's all said and done
We'll always be friends
