With pride comes disgrace it's power that we're obsessed with but it will be our death the stone around my neck

The time has come to look around and realize what's at stake FIGHT! FIGHT! against the tide but the waves continue to break

It's been said before
"gain the world, lose your soul" but that's not the life for me I need that rock, that inner peace

We can make it through this life if we put our trust in the right things the future's in the palm of our hands and it's time for us to make the choice BUST!

We've got to fight their way of thinking that one can stand alone because no one makes it alone
