Don't burn your bridges down again
You'll have no way to get back home
The long and endless road is far behind you
And hearts of ice they melt alone

The hidden message heard between the lines
Is only there to waste your time
The questions' answers are right inside you
Just be prepared to lead the way

CHORUS:

The lights are guiding you and the illusions' fading
And with time running out, will you last the test of time?

Too many dreamers write an empty page
When they make the history of the world
But then our leaders try to steal the rough drafts
So they know what's next to do

The empty threats we hear may never come
It seems just like they're said in fun
The questions' answer is right inside me
Just look around, I'm on my way
