Not too far from where i walk
Across the forbidden rail
If you just wish hard enough
The barman is Satan
Small water spiders
Flutters in the sudden breeze
And butterflies in the meadow
Bisects my view of the sky
She practices black magic
And is confused by the truth
She can't seem to choose between us
And leaves me with a longing for stealthy glances
And leaves me with a longing for stealthy glances
And leaves me with a longing for stealthy glances
And leaves me...
She cracks a big smile
And refreshes my mind
She cracks a big smile
And has invented nothing
She's confused by the facts (without pourpose)
And everything seems perfect
She's confused by the facts (without pourpose)
And draws me...
She wants me...
...or not?
And draws me (into her world)
She wants me (to lose control)
(Whether I'm willing) or not
She said: "imagine there is no heaven"
"Imagine there is no hell"
Without questioning the need
Without letting anyone know
A dark joy fills the air
'Cause vengeance is mine
