And you help me cut my wrists
And later you insist
It's easy to agree with your thoughts than die
I can only keep my mouth (shut)
And listen to your guns
Watch bloody fingertips on sharp can edge
Can I get you a drink while you decide the way
You should eat nails for breakfast, just to be safe
Sit down on my easy chair
While ceiling turns to black
A distant radio sadly resounds
I'm going down for the count
White carpet turns to red
Like every friday evening boredom grows
Can i get you a drink while you decide the way
You should eat nails for breakfast, just to be safe
The highest prices to pay
A pleasant act to you
Another glare of anger is my reward
I feel just like a fool
To be a afraid of you
But the scars on my hands still hurts me
Can i get you a drink while you decide the way
You should eat nails for breakfast, just to be safe
