Like a long forgotten dream
The tide carried ashore
The red petal you once gave to me.
They fill you with the faults they had
And add some extra-tracks
Man hands on misery to man.

But IÂ'd rather kiss you
Before I miss you
So loud my loss blinds my cry

IÂ've never seen a man looking
With such a wistful eye
When all the souls and I are painted blue.
He does not bend
His head to hear
He does not stare through a little roof of glass.

But I already miss you
Before I kiss you
So loud my loss blinds my cry

We stare out there so close and tight
Until the day he dies
Unknown to all and to the turn of time.
Heart-shaped petal red of light
Hiding your face from mine
I mind my step without a sigh.
I hear your call
Forever fall
Until the night gives freedom to us all.

But IÂ'd rather kiss you
Before I miss you
So loud my lost blinds my cry
But I will never miss you until IÂ'll kiss you
So loud my love grows and tries
My cry
