How many purple leaves
Fall down at the ground during winter
How many green and yellow leaves
Slides up to my eyes
Slips in my heart
How many dry leaves
I've already treaded
Ana how many of them
I've to see fall down
I've to see to rot at the ground
Like a psychedelic dream
I'd steal a howling diamonds wind
To melt it with sunrise
When straight ahead luna shines
The season wrap slowly bleed
Bleed in my heart
How many dry leaves
I've already treaded
Ana how many of them
I've to see fall down
I've to see to rot at the ground
Like a psychedelic dream
A day is like a tear
The tear of a widow
Remembering her love
Remembering her shining days
A tear is like a day
Drops down, never shines
A tear is only salty water
The seas are just the same
I'd steal a howling diamonds wind
To melt it with sunrise
When straight ahead luna shines
The season wrap slowly bleed
...in may heart
A day is like a tear
...in my heart
