She probably doesn't know
And means nothing to me
She seems to float through another daydream
Reminds me that there's no reasons to stay
I see that thing will never be the same again
The same again
Snapshot love
She wanna me...
And cares nothin' to me
She tasted my tears and laughs forever
She kissed my lips and says now or never
I can't remember what she have done that day,
Remember that day
Things I said in anger will be spread around
The lies won't matter now
I'll strew rose petals in your path
Snapshot love
