"Waffles"

It all seems too familiar, the confusion, the discomfort
This charade of me and you
Now we know who pulls the strings
Sound the alarm, pick your battles
Get in line, you'll see it through

Nothing is the same and I watch you walk away
Everything's alright, you're so understanding
Nothing is okay, changed my mind, won't explain
Everything's the same as long as
We still share the same place
Respecting each other's space

Take the time to discuss the alternative to the pain
Of realizing you're wrong
Insecurity will prevail
Doesn't mean we can't just have a good time
Nothing is the same but to me we're still alright.
