

Hold X True

"The Missed Chance"

Visit "The Missed Chance" on MotoLyrics.com

Lying in the subway, feeling hungry and cold or sitting a bar behind a glass of cheap wine. You always wonder, how could this happen to you, once you had it all, a realized dream seems to be gone. Your kids still play in the garden, as they did it before, I guess it's hard to believe, but they owe nothing to you. You couldn't keep up with responsibility, so you hurt the ones, you loved the most. It's not increasing pressure, no one else to blame, you made it for yourself, it won't ever be the same. Try to start again, but not here, not this time, you caused enough pain and suffering to get out of their sight. Once you had her head over heels, but love comes to an end, with slaps in the face. Hiding behind your bottles won't solve nothing at all, so pull yourself together, let's get your things straight!

Maybe you can start again, but I don't think you ever can, you always had the chance, that you never lived with. You missed this train, but you broke your alarm-clock, it's needless to run now, cause it's already gone. Maybe back then, when you didn't care, but since you lost your ground, you're crawling back! Maybe you can start again, but I don't think you ever can, you always had the chance, that you never lived with. You missed this train, but you broke your alarm-clock, it's needless to run now, cause it's already gone!

Visit Hold X True page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.