They all disappeared, just a few remained. What they once thought, now's the thing they don't have. Lack of dedication? I don't think so. Prevailed over them and gave a false image. I never went back on my word, I don't feel ashamed. Straight, with a positive fight, marked with the X on my hand. Keeping my head high among silent faces among those who thought this to be eternal. I go my way, you have no say. What I started I'll never leave. My desire I realized, I won't back down in this fight! Like an instinct comes from inside, if you have it you shouldn't hide.

Through influences, against the world,
straight edge will
always worth it!
