Why do I want what only holds me down?

A sinking ship on dry land

Weary man, rest in the Lord.

We need the comfort of

We need a brothers love

Running against the wind

Drag my feet across the floor

There is a light

So run for your life

There is a light

So run for your life

We are beaten

We are broken

Yet we have hope

What you see is not real

What you thirst for will never quench

In a world of nothing you are everything

May your mercy come meet us now

We are desperate

We are so desperate
