I don't look back 'cause I'm a forward thinker
Don't think I'm a wreck but you beg to differ
And you always smile when you tell me it's over

I lose track of time but this you already know think out in rhyme but like sounds better when it flows and still you smile you tell me it's over, yeah.

Is it enough?
It's never enough to sell yourself for less than love
It's keeping me up through the morning
With no warning

Lately I've been numb I swear I'm getting better
Or it's just begun it really doesn't matter cause
The way I see things will end as they're meant to...
Just like we do

Is it enough?
It's never enough to sell yourself for less than love
It's keeping me up through the morning
And you're the only one that I want
But is it enough to tell you again just one more time?
You go and leave me abruptly with no warning,
with no warning

If you could take a hint from me
Wait for that moment of release
Where everything was meant to be I'm thinking, honestly, you'd never ever take this from me.

Is it enough?
It's never enough to sell yourself for less than love
It's keeping me up through the morning

Is it enough?
It's never enough to sell yourself for less than love
It's keeping me up through the morning
And you're the only one that I want
But is it enough to tell you again just one more time?
You go and leave me abruptly with no warning

And if we take our time
To take a look inside
It's in there we'll find enough
