A storm breaks
Flashback to the downfalls of your old ways
You thought you'd left behind
But maybe
If you reach a little further you will find

The things you lose
Lost along the way they left you so confused
Too scared to open up your eyes
To what's ahead of you
If you look a little closer you will find

That I'll be there to see you through
Till' the hardest part is over
I'm gonna take it off your shoulders
And every road leads back to you
So keep holding out, 'cause I'm holding on
To you

You can't unwind
Been searching out your days for an exit sign
Anything at all to bring you peace of mind
Been carrying the whole world 'til you find

That I'll be there to see you through
Till' the hardest part is over
I'm gonna take it off your shoulders
And every road leads back to you
So keep holding out, 'cause I'm holding on
To you

When your heart is blinded
Burned out by the sun
Too tired to fight it
Nowhere left to run
You'll never be alone
Just waiting on the rain
