Would You Believe

The Hollies

I Can't Let Go

(Chip Taylor/Al Gorgoni)

Single release february 1966 and track 12 (final) on album 'Would You Believe' June 1966.

{guitar intro on overmuted G-chord}

Oh I try and I try but I can't say goodbye.

Feel so bad, baby.

Oh, it hurts me

when think of how you lovin' desert me.

I'm the broken-hearted toy you play with, baby.

You got me going (I can't let go)

I need you, baby.

I can't let go, and I want you, baby (and I want you,
baby)

I got a habit you know: I can't let go.

Though I'm just one of your lovers,

and I know there are so many others,

you do something strange to me, baby, baby, baby,
baby.

You got me going (I can't let go)

I need you, baby.

I can't let go, and I want you, baby (and I want you,
baby)

I got a habit you know: I can't let go.

{intro replayed}

I try and I try but I can't say goodbye.

Know that it's wrong and I should be so strong but the thought of you gone makes me want to hold on.

{guitar interlude}

You got me going (I can't let go)

I need you, baby.

I can't let go, and I want you, baby (and I want you,
baby)

I got a habit you know: I can't let go.

You got me going (I can't let go)

I need you, baby.

I can't let go, and I want you, baby (and I want you,
baby)

I got a habit you know: I can't let go.

I can't let go.

I can't let go.

{fade out}

I can't let go.

I can't let go ...
